Objective: As the world of information technology continues to evolve, so has the storage devices we use to keep up to date. At some point, things just stopped working and the answer was always "a new hard drive". Well, fast forward a couple years and the value of having a fast stable hard drive is undeniable. Features The script can be loaded from any USB port and will automatically backup any Win Mobile device that can boot from USB. If your device requires a firmware upgrade, it will save the upgrade file and the firmware version will be updated in the new backup. The backup process requires only about 300mb of space but you are limited to one backup script per computer. Optional: If you want to make the script a service, the ability to load it from boot is required. This can be accomplished by following this tutorial: In Conclusion I think this is a great solution to the PPC issues of not having a native backup solution. It's only about $50 and will make it very easy to restore your entire device to a working state. Objective: "Horde is the virtualization product for managing Windows Mobile 2003 for Pocket PC devices. " "Horde gives Windows Mobile 2003 a seamless "trusted" look
