December 11, 2021 - Sound recognition with ACRCLOUD. This does not require additional hardware. In 2019, ACRCLOUD released an app called ACRCLOUD that already uses artificial intelligence to recognize speech recorded on a voice recorder. On December 11, 2021, the developers plan to complete the certification and release an application called SiriEath, which will recognize human speech at a distance. It does not require additional hardware or an additional set of sensors to work.
